

MoLiCoDiLaCo-Conference on Language Contact

August 28, 2018

Venue: Safnaðarheimili Neskirkju (Congregational rooms of the Neskirkja church)

Map with directions from Hotel Saga to Neskirkja: <https://goo.gl/A3xC7r>

8:50 Sigríður Sigurjónsdóttir: Welcoming remarks

9:00 – 9:40 Sarah G. Thomason, University of Michigan:
Language contact and language endangerment, digital and in-person contact.

9:40 – 10:20 Silvina Montrul, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign:
Early bilingual heritage speakers change languages.

10:20 – 10:40 Coffee

10:40 – 11:20 András Kornai, Hungarian Academy of Sciences:
How to save a language from digital death?

11:20 – 12:00 Zakaris Svabo Hansen, Fróðskaparsetur Føroya:
Challenges for Faroese in the digital world.

12:00 – 13:00 Lunch

13:00 – 13:40 Øystein Vangsnes, University of Tromsø – the Arctic University of Norway:
Norwegian lingualities at the crossroad of oracy and literacy.

13:40 – 14:20 Anne Mette Sunde, Norwegian University of Science and Technology:
Hidden influences from English on Norwegian.

14:20 – 15:00 Sigríður Sigurjónsdóttir & Eiríkur Rögnvaldsson, University of Iceland:

Modeling the linguistic consequences of digital language contact: Overview of research methods and first results.

15:00 – 15:20 Coffee

15:20 – 15:50 Einar Freyr Sigurðsson, University of Iceland:

The acquisition of dative subjects in L1 Icelandic.

15:50 – 16:20 Iris Edda Nowenstein, University of Iceland:

Digital language input, vocabulary sizes and productive rules.

16:20 – 16:50 Þorbjörg Þorvaldsdóttir, University of Iceland:

Gender in contact: Input effects on variation in Icelandic gender agreement.

16:50 – 17:00 Discussion

19:00 – ? Dinner at Hannesarholt, Grundarstígur 10 (in downtown Reykjavík)

Map with directions from Hotel Saga to Hannesarholt: <https://goo.gl/njfGrF>

August 29, 2018

9:00 – 12:00 Discussion with invited speakers and foreign-based participants in the project (Charles Yang, Laurel MacKenzie, Noel P. Ó. Murchadha and Elín Thordardóttir).

12:00-13:00 Lunch

14:00-18:00 Trip for those who are interested: TBA!